CONGRESS HEARS SPECIAL MESSAGE

President's Plea for Square Deal for Cuba Read in Both Branches.

LITTLE BUSINESS DONE

Speaker Cannon Announces a Few Committees, Among Them That of Rules.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Both branches of congress held very brief sessions today, meeting at noon and adjourning soon after the president's message on Cuban reciprocity had been received and read.

The president's message evidently created a good impression and it was received with marked manifestations of approval on the republican side of the house.

In the house Speaker Cannon announced the appointment of two or nounced the appointees of two or among them the committee on rules.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Today's session of the senate was devoted exclusively to the reading of the president's message in support of reciprocity with Cuba and to the routine incident to the receipt of the message, and again, as on yesterday, continued for only about fifteen minutes.

The attendance of senators was exceptionally large, and many appeared with large rolls of freshly prepared bills in front of them.

After the conclusion of the prayer with which the session opened Mr. Hoar, from the committee appointed yesterday to wait upon the president, reported that the committee had performed that duty and had been requested to notify the senate that the president would transmit a communication in writing during the day.

Mr. Hoar had scarcely taken his seat when Assistant Secretary Barnes was recognized to present the president's message, which was read by Secretary Bennett.

The message received the careful attention of the senators and when its reading had been concluded Mr. McCullom (Ill.) was recognized to move the reference to the committee on foreign relations of the message and the Cuban treaty, the text of which had been transmitted with the message.

This motion prevailed, and it had no sooner been disposed of than upon motion of Mr. Allison (Iowa) the senate at 12:15 o'clock adjourned.

IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Speaker Cannon called the house to order promptly at 12 o'clock, the hour fixed for the beginning of the daily sessions.

Following the reading of the journal, Charles W. Thompson, of Alabama, was sworn in as a member of the house. Mr. Tawney, of Minnesota, for the committee appointed by the speaker to wait on the president to inform him of the presence of a quorum in the two houses ready to receive any communication he might have to make, reported having waited on the president and that the president had advised the committee that he would at once transmit a message in writing.

A joint resolution offered by Mr. Heminway, of Indiana, making immediately available the appropriations for mileage of senators and members of the house of representatives was passed.

Provision is made authorizing the speaker to designate some one from among those appointed by him to sign in his name under his direction all certificates for salary and accounts for traveling expenses, thus saving the speaker a vast amount of labor.

Mr. Barnes, assistant secretary to the president, bearing a message from the president, was announced. The president's message was then read and was received with applause from the republican side.

Following its reading the speaker announced the following committees: Rules—the speaker, Dalzell, republican, Pennsylvania; Grosvenor, republican, Ohio; Williams, democrat, Mississippi; DeArmons, democrat, Missouri.

Mileage—Reeder, Kansas; Jackson, Maryland; Flack, New York; Lewis, Georgia; Butler, Missouri.

The first three are republicans and the last two democrats.

Resolutions of respect to the memory of Mr. Forderer, of Pennsylvania, Mr. Boreing, of Kentucky, were adopted and as a further mark of respect the house at 12:25 adjourned.

SHELL SAN DOMINGO

Minister Powell Cables That Attack Has Been Made on the City

Washington, Nov. 10.—The state department this afternoon received a cablegram from Minister Powell, at San Domingo, dated Nov. 6, stating that the revolutionists are shelling the city.

REFUSED TO SURRENDER.

San Domingo, Republic of Santo Domingo, Saturday, Nov. 7.—The revolutionary forces, which now surround this city, attacked San Domingo last night, using artillery, but no damage was done.

The revolutionary commander this afternoon sent a message under a flag of truce to demand the surrender of the capital, which was refused, and hostilities were resumed.

San Domingo is strongly fortified and provisions are plentiful.

A BELATED DISPATCH.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The state department today received another belated dispatch from United States Minister Powell at San Domingo city, dated the 6th inst., in which the minister says:

"Macoris has just been bombarded by a San Domingoian naval vessel and partially destroyed. The ship then returned to San Domingo city. The American interests in Macoris are very considerable."

Macoris is a fruit shipping port doing a large business with the United States and the bombardment is supposed to have been without the required twenty-four hours notice. If it appears that American interests have suffered by arbitrary action at the hands of the Dominion government the state department will demand full redress and the cruiser Baltimore, now at Puerto Plata, undoubtedly will prevent further happenings of this kind. Two German warships, which started from St. Thomas yesterday morning, also are available by this time to aid in the maintainence of order.

NEARLY READY FOR EXPERIMENTAL WELLS

Gas Company Begins Probing Baldwin Territory in Two Weeks.

The Fort Wayne Gas company, which is now taking up leases on possible gas territory in the Baldwin and Edgerton oil fields, will begin shortly the sinking of experimental wells in that section in the hope of making a strike of natural gas. Superintendent G. Max Hofmann stated today that it would probably be possible to start the drilling within the next two weeks.

With each of the oil wells yet drilled in the eastern Allen county field there has been a showing of gas, and in many instances it has been of such volume as to lead to the belief that gas may be found in paying quantities there. It is badly needed to augment the supply available for Fort Wayne consumption.

WELL A GOOD ONE.

The well upon the Anspach farm, near Edgerton, which was shot a few days ago, is now producing at a rate of thirty-five barrels daily, and is regarded as a very good one.

MISS MAY GOELET BECOMES DUCHESS

American Heiress Made the Bride of the Duke of Roxburghe.

New York, Nov. 10.—The marriage of Miss May Goelet, only daughter of Mrs. Ogden Goelet, and one of the richest of American heiresses, to Henry John Innes-Ker, eighth duke of Roxburghe, was solemnized today at St. Thomas church, in this city, Bishop William Croswell Doane, of Albany, assisted by the Rev. Ernest M. Stires, of St. Thomas church, performing the ceremony. A company of 250 guests, a small number for an international marriage of such importance, witnessed the ceremony, but masses of palms, shrubs and flowers banked the church so effectively that the great nave seemed far from empty. In the chancel itself, where the ceremony took place, palms, Japanese chrysanthemums and English primroses were combined in an artistic color scheme, with which the orchids on the pulpit and the lilies about the altar toned beautifully.

SITUATION CRITICAL

Japan's Premier Hints of War in Address to Anti-Russian League

Tokio, Japan, Nov. 10.—Premier Katsura today received a deputation of the anti-Russian league. He impressed the delegates with the necessity for complete unity and solidarity among the people in the face of the existing situation, which, he declared, was most critical.

PLOT TO RESCUE CONDEMNED MAN

Belief in Cheyenne is That Tom Horn Will Not Die on the Gallows.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 10.—Governor Chatterton will decide Tom Horn's fate on Thursday night.

Deputies with a Gatling and a Hotchkiss gun are constantly on guard in anticipation of an attempt to release Horn. The threat is common that the condemned murderer will be saved from the hangman's rope.

A bit of startling information has fallen into the hands of Sheriff Smalley in the form of a piece of paper on which the figures 11-11-11 are marked and which were thrown into the court house yard where Horn could see them from his window. The same figures have been marked on buildings across the street from the jail in plain view of Horn's cell.

This is taken to mean that Horn's friends will attempt to liberate him on the eleventh month, eleventh day and eleventh hour which would be tomorrow at either 11 a. m. or 11 p. m.

Sheriff Stout has gone to Penokee, Wis., with a hunting party.

M'KAY MILLIONS TO GO TO HARVARD

Eighty Per Cent of Vast Estate of Manufacturer Left to University.

Boston, Nov. 10.—Harvard university is to have 80 per cent of the net income of the $20,000,000 estate of Gordon McKay after certain annuities, amounting to $47,600, are provided for. The two minor sons of the late manufacturer are cut off with an allowance of $100 a year until they reach the age of 21 years.

The will was offered for probate in Boston late yesterday. The executors are Frank F. Stanley and James F. Myers, of Boston, and George E. Gilbert, of Newton. The instrument bears date of Nov. 30, 1887. Since then Mr. McKay from time to time made liberal provisions for those near to him, or who had claims upon him, sometimes by outright gifts and sometimes by codicil. In this way he made sure that his wishes were carried out at the time and were off his mind. The will, therefore, covers only what is left of his estate after all such gifts and trusts are provided for.

A contest on behalf of the two minor sons is almost certain.

EMPEROR WILLIAM SLOWLY MENDING

Is Able to Walk Out in the Park and Transacts Some Business.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—A bulletin on the condition of Emperor William, issued this morning at the new palace, Potsdam, says there is a slow improvement in the appearance of the left vocal cord and adds that the emperor today resumed his usual morning walk in the park.

The bulletin is signed by Drs. Von Leuthold, Moritz Schmidt and Ilberg.

The emperor walked out twice today and transacted business with the chief of the naval staff and the chiefs of his private military and naval cabinets.

The morning bulletin was not supplemented by other details. Importance is no longer attached to the emperor's wound by the court officials, who consider that public concern can best be allayed by not saying anything except what is contained in the bulletins.

The emperor will have to abstain from much public speaking in the futuer. The growth on the vocal cord appears to have been caused by straining his voice. His majesty, as is well known, talks much in public, addressing the guests at dinners and speaking to large open-air companies at the unveiling of monuments, launchings and reviews of troops.

Prof. Orth's microscopic examination, in addition to the publication already made, showed that the dark matter found originated from previous bleedings within the polypus, which contained a great number of minute blood vessels. The bleedings were almost certainly caused by loud speaking. The emperor's voice of recent years has always appeared somewhat hoarse, but his entourage noticed that it was hoarser than usual during the last three weeks.

Dr. Moritz Schmidt gives his attention solely to the emperor's case, having retired from active practice half a year ago.

The crown prince, Frederick William, returned to the new palace today from hunting at Wernigerode.

WOULD CORRECT RECORD.

Washington, Nov. 10.—(Special.)—Senator Fairbanks today introduced into congress a bill to correct the civil war record of Edward Wheeler, of Fort Wayne. The records as it at present stands would affect the interests of the petitioner in the matter of an increase of pension.

HAND BADLY INJURED.

Jesse Hull, employed at the Packard factory and residing at Indiana avenue and Dayton street, had his left hand badly lacerated in a jointer at the organ factory this morning. Dr. A. E. VanBuskirk attended the injured man.

THE HOUSE COLLAPSED.

Auburn, Ind., Nov. 10.—Mrs. Conley, who occupied a frame residence here owned by Rollin Moffet, concluded to remain in the building with her household goods while the house was being removed to a new location. After the house had been placed upon supports at its new site the underpinning gave way, the building dropped three feet, wrecking the house and turning the household goods topsy-turvy, smashing many of them. The damage was heavy.

BRITAIN SLAPS AT SERVIA.

Vienna, Nov. 10.—It is announced in a dispatch received here from Belgrade, Servia, that the British charge d'affaires there yesterday refused to receive the congratulations of the Servian government on the birthday of King Edward. This refusal was in accordance with his instructions not to maintain diplomatic relations with King Peter's government. The affair has caused some sensation.

SOCIALISTS ARRESTED.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—Five socialists have been arrested at Koenigsberg and Memel, Prussia, on the charge of belonging to secret societies. The police seized quantities of revolutionary papers and nihilist pamphlets, issued at Zurich, Switzerland, and also an extensive correspondence with Russians.

TO OPEN NEW SANDPITS.

John H. Jacobs has sold to McAfee & Arter, for $1,900, two acres of land in the northern suburbs of the city, containing valuable deposits of building sand and gravel. The purchasers will at once open up these deposits and place the product on the market. Swayne & Swayne, attorneys, are closing the transaction.

REPUBLICAN CAUCUS

Preparing to Relegate Senator Morgan to the Rear.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The caucus of republican senators today authorized Senator Allison, the chairman, to appoint a committee to reorganize the senate committees. A resolution declaring that the committee on inter-oceanic canals should be a majority committee, with a republican as chairman, was not adopted, but the whole matter was left with the committee on committees, with the understanding that such action should be taken. This will displace Senator Morgan, who is chairman of the committee.

The committee on committees will consist of nine members, to be announced by Senator Allison tomorrow. Senator Hale, it is expected, will be named as chairman. It is likely a week will be consumed by the committee in its deliberations. The chairman in the meantime will meet with the chairman of the democratic steering committee with a view to diplomatically disposing of the question of making the change in the committee on inter-oceanic canals so that it will be presided over by a republican. The democratic steering committee, it is said, recognizes the propriety of making the change and will aid in bringing it about by selecting Senator Morgan for the chairmanship of one of the important minority committees.

"LITTLE TOOTSIE" MAY GO TO MOTHER

Little Girl Was Born in Hospital Here--Story Full of Pathos.

A local physician is endeavoring to restore Felicia Fettig, known through her connection with the Hasenfuss murder trial as "Little Tootsie," to her mother, and behind the endeavor is a background which is a commingling of a young girl's love and folly that deprived her of her good name and made her a mother before she was a wife, of the helping hand of charity that was held out to her in the darkest hour of her shame, of good, kindly people that procured for her offspring a home and placed her before the world without the public having become possessed of the knowledge of her downfall, of her marriage and the revival of the mother's love that prompted her to seek her little one in the time of her prosperity.

Felicia Fettig was born at Hope hospital. Just exactly when is not known, for the reason that the records at the time of her birth were not kept as they are now.

The mother told nothing of her past, sharing her secrets with no one. She was given such attention as was necessary, the little one came and in order to designate it from the other children in the institution the nurses called her Betsy.

The physician who is now endeavoring to bring the mother and child together officiated at the birth and through his efforts Mrs. Elias Babb, who was then Mrs. Lintlag, was given the custody of the infant.

Her mother went forth from the hospital secure in the knowledge that her past would be kept secret and that the keen sorrow of her girlhood had brought with it a rich harvest of experience that placed her in a position to battle with the world on equal terms with girls who had not listened to the tempter.

The spirit of charity that had been exercised in the hope that she would profit by the bitterness that had crept into her life bore fruit and she became an honest woman. Love again tapped at the portal of her woman's heart, but it came without the taint that had made bitter her first love; she loved in return and Cupid led on to holy wedlock.

This happiness came to her after she had left Fort Wayne, seeking to make her way among strangers, and her wedding took place in the east. She had, however, gained a knowledge of the whereabouts of her child, and when the Hasenfuss murder trial came on she read in the papers of "Little Tootsie," and knew that the babe that toddled about the court room in innocent knowledge of the majesty of the law, or that her infancy was being clothed about by a certain glamor that would keep her in the public eye during the remainder of her life, was the little one that came to her at Hope hospital in the day of her deep sorrow.

The knowledge revived the yearning love of the mother and she sought to recover her babe. With this object in view she sent a woman physician here, who saw the child in the court room and made overtures to get possession of her, only to find that Mrs. Hasenfuss had legally adopted her and would make a strong fight to keep her, even from her own mother.

This fight would have been followed by publicity, the very thing the young mother was endeavoring to avoid. The physician remained here several days and made every effort to get little Felicia, but failed and returned to the mother to report her failure.

The mother in the course of her married life had prospered, and the physician brought with her undeniable evidence of her eminent respectability and her ability to care properly for the girl. She would not make the fight, however, and the matter was allowed to rest.

The local physician—the one present at the birth—read in The Sentinel Saturday of the fact that the board of children's guardians had made application for the possession of the child and he went to Judge O'Rourke and secured the promise that no final disposition will be made of the case until an effort has been made to locate the mother, who will be given an opportunity to reclaim her daughter.

TWO NEW CASES OF SMALLPOX.

Two new cases of smallpox have developed in the family of Jud Emrick, of Williamsport, a boy about five years and a girl eighteen being the latest victims. There are now four cases in the family, exclusive of the mother, who is now able to be about. Rigid quarantine is being maintained and it is believed that the disease will not spread.

BOWL FOR CHAMPIONSHIP.

Frank Hills and Frank Farman, of the City bowling team, will bowl the first five of a series of fifty games for the individual championship of northern Indiana at the Eureka alleys tonight. They hold the two-man record of the world, 504 pins, and have an average of 419¼ pins for four games. Each has rolled the highest possible score, 300, or twelve straight strikes.

CANNOT LAND HER TROOPS IN PANAMA

Colombia Said to Be Chartering British Ships to Convey Her Forces.

NAVY WILL BLOCK GAME

Berlin Foreign Office Denies That Colombia is Seeking Kaiser's Aid.

Washington, Nov. 10.—Upon receipt of a report by the state department that several British vessels were to be chartered by the Colombian government to take troops from Buena Ventura to the isthmus the navy department today ordered the Boston to proceed off Buena Ventura and in the event that the troops start for the isthmus their commanders will be informed that they cannot land. The navy department announced that no attempt will be made to interfere with British vessels on the high seas.

GERMANY'S DENIAL.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—Foreign Secretary Von Richahofen informed Ambassador Tower today that there is no truth whatever in the report of the intention of Colombia to appeal to Germany and nothing is known here of any intention to make such an appeal. The foreign secretary assured the ambassador that Germany has no interest in the Panama matter and that the question of an interference in Panama upon the part of Germany does not exist. Baron Von Richthofen made these statements in an earnest and formal manner and wished them to be communicated to the United States government, which the ambassador accordingly has done.

IMPORTANT CONFERENCE.

Washington, Nov. 10.—An important conference concerning the Panama situation was held at the white house today, just prior to the formal meeting of the cabinet. The participants in the conference were President Roosevelt, Senator Hanna and members of the cabinet. The decision reached, if any, was not disclosed. It is understood, however,

URGES CASE OF CUBA

President Sends to Congress Special Message on Reciprocity.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The following is the text of the special message on Cuban reciprocity sent to congress by the president:

To the Senate and House of Representatives: I have convened the congress that it may consider the legislation necessary to put into operation the commercial treaty with Cuba, which was ratified by the senate at its last session, and subsequently by the Cuban government. I deem such legislation demanded not only by our interest but by our honor. We cannot with propriety abandon the course upon which we have so wisely embarked. When the acceptance of the Platt amendment was required from Cuba by the action of the congress of the United States this government thereby definitely committed itself to the policy of treating Cuba as occupying a unique position as regards this country. It was provided that when the island became a free and independent republic she should stand in such close relations with us as in certain respects to come within our system of international policy, and it necessarily followed that she must also to a certain degree become included within the lines of our economic policy.

REASONS ARE STRONG.

Situated as Cuba is, it would not be possible for this country to permit the strategic use of the island by any foreign military power. It is for this reason that certain limitations have been imposed upon her financial policy, and that naval stations have been conceded by her to the United States. The negotiations as to the details of these naval stations are on the eve of completion. They are so situated as to prevent any idea that there is intention ever to use them against Cuba, or otherwise than for the protection of Cuba from the assaults of foreign foes, and for the better safeguarding of American interests in the waters south of us.

INTERESTS WILL INCREASE.

These interests have been largely increased by the consequences of the war with Spain, and will be still further increased by the building of the isthmian canal. They are both military, and economic. The granting to us by Cuba of the naval stations above alluded to is of the utmost importance from a military standpoint, and is proof of the good faith with which Cuba is treating us. Cuba has made great progress since her independence was established. She has advanced steadily in every way. She already stands high among her sister republics of the new world. She is loyally observing her obligations to us, and she is entitled to like treatment by us.

WHAT THE TREATY SECURES.

The treaty submitted you for approval secures to the United States economic advantages as great as those given to Cuba. Not an American interest is sacrificed. By the treaty a large Cuban market is secured to our producers. It is a market which lies at our doors, which is already large, which is capable of great expansion, and which is especially important to the development of our export trade.

It would be indeed short-sighted for us to refuse to take advantage of such an opportunity, and to force Cuba into making arrangements with other countries to our disadvantage.

STANDS BY ITSELF.

This reciprocity treaty stands by itself. It is demanded on consideration of broad national policy as well as by our economic interests. It will do harm to no industry. It will benefit many industries. It is in the interest of our people as a whole, both because of its importance from the broad standpoint of international policy and because economically it intimately concerns us to develop and secure the rich Cuban market for our farmers, artisans, merchants and manufacturers. Finally, it is desirable as a guaranty of the good faith of our nation towards her young sister republic to the south, whose welfare must ever be closely bound with ours.

BY TIES OF SACRIFICE.

We gave her liberty. We are knit to her by the memories of the blood and the courage of our soldiers who fought for her in war; by the memories of the wisdom and integrity of our administrators who served her in peace and who started her so well on the difficult path of self-government. We must help her onward and upward, and in helping her we shall help ourselves.

The foregoing considerations caused the negotiator of the treaty with Cuba and its ratification by the senate. They now with equal force support the legislation by the congress, which by the terms of the treaty is necessary to render it operative. A failure to enact such legislation would come perilously near a repudiation of the pledged faith of the nation.

I transmit herewith the treaty as amended by the senate and ratified by the Cuban government.

Theodore Roosevelt.

White House, Nov. 10, 1903.

M'CLELLAN WINS BY HEAVY VOTE

Democrat Defeats Seth Low for New York Mayoralty by Over 60,000.

WHOLE TICKET GOES IN

Low Was Given a Majority in But One Burough of the Five in City.

New York, Nov. 4.—George B. McClellan (democrat) will be the next mayor of Greater New York, having defeated Mayor Seth Low for re-election by a plurality of 63,617, complete unofficial returns having been received from every election district in the city.

COL. GEORGE B. M'CLELLAN,
Democratic Mayor-Elect of Greater New York.

By the same returns Comptroller Edward M. Grout and Charles V. Fornes, president of the board of aldermen, running for re-election on the democratic ticket, though elected two years ago as fusionists, defeated their fusion opponents by 63,790 and 64,073 plurality respectively, Comptroller Grout leading the city ticket.

This sweeping democratic victory was accomplished for the democratic city and borough tickets in four of the five boroughs of the municipality, only Richmond borough (Staten Island) giving Low a plurality and electing fusion borough officers. J. Edwards Swanstrom (fusion) who, it was thought last night, might be elected president of Brooklyn borough, was defeated by Martin W. Littleton, the democratic candidate, by 2,129 plurality, in spite of Littleton's attitude in opposition to the democratic city ticket.

THE TOTAL VOTE.

McClellan's total vote for mayor was 314,906 to 251,289 for Low.

William S. Devery, independent candidate for mayor, polled only 2,935 votes in the entire city, getting 2,671 of these in Manhattan and the Bronx, 226 in Brooklyn, 38 in Queens and none in Richmond.

Two years ago Low carried all the boroughs but Queens, his plurality in Manhattan and the Bronx being 5,663 and Brooklyn 25,767, and in Richmond 763. In Queens Shepard, democrat, had a plurality of 561.

Yesterday McClellan carried Manhattan and the Bronx by about 58,000, a gain of 63,000; Brooklyn by about 6,000, a gain of 31,000 and Queens by about 5,000, a gain of more than 4,000. This makes a total net gain for McClellan of about 103,000, as compared with Shepard's vote of two years ago.

LOW ADMITS HIS DEFEAT.

The result was known early and at 8:15 o'clock Mayor Low sent the following telegram of congratulation to Colonel McClellan:

I congratulate you on your election. If I can be of any service to you, pray command me.

Seth Low.

The mayor then said: "I think that the telegram sums up all that I have to say tonight."

CROKER HAS NOTHING TO SAY.

London, Nov. 4.—Such comment as the afternoon newspapers make on the result of the election yesterday in New York expresses regret at Tammany's victory.

The Pall Mall Gazette says it gives the world a lesson that "purity is not inherent in a democratic form of government."

The St. James Gazette bitterly assails Tammany, saying the result "is one which every honest person must deeply lament and proves how powerless is true opinion to make its weight felt under a representative system when it is confronted by the machinery of an unscrupulous organization."

Richard Croker telegraphed as follows to the Associated Press:

"Wantage, Nov. 4, 1903.—I have nothing to say on the result of the election.

(Signed) "Richard Croker."

THE DEATHS.

RHOADS.

Charles Rhoads, aged 69 years, died at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at the residence of his son, Oscar S. Rhoads, 919 Washington boulevard, from stomach trouble, after an illness of several months.

Mr. Rhoads spent last winter in Fort Wayne, leaving in the spring for his old home at Hillsboro, Ill., where he was taken ill, and a few weeks ago returned to this city to spend his declining days with his son. He was a widower, and the surviving relatives include two sons, Oscar S., of this city, and Elmer C., of Terre Haute. Mr. Rhoads was well-to-do and highly respected. He was the owner of an extensive shoe business at Terre Haute, and was a member of the Masonic fraternity.

The remains will be taken Thursday to Hillsboro, Ill., for interment.

KISSINGER.

Mrs. Agnes Kissinger, nearly 60 years of age, died at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday evening at her home, 1513 Walton avenue, from dropsy. Mrs. Kissinger was the widow of Samuel Kissinger, and was for many years a resident of Churubusco, where her husband died about ten years ago. She removed to Fort Wayne about one year ago.

Surviving relatives include six children, John A., Elijah and Henry Kissinger, Mrs. Perry Armantrout and Miss Jessie Kissinger, of this city, and Mrs. W. Gorman, of Kansas, Ohio. Members of the Fort Wayne Relief Corps will conduct memorial services at the home on Thursday evening and on Friday morning at 8 o'clock. Short funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Cooper. The remains will then be taken to Eel River chapel, where further services will be held at 11 o'clock, Rev. Murray, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church at Churubusco, officiating. The Woman's Relief Corps, of Churubusco, will participate in the obsequies at Eel River chapel.

PLOWING MATCH POSTPONED.

The thirteenth annual plowing competition that was to have taken place tomorrow (Thursday) at the McKinnie farm, one and one-half miles south of the city under the auspices of the Allen county plowing association, has been postponed for one week. It will take place Thursday, November 19, at the place advertised. The match was postponed because of the dry weather which had put the soil in very unfavorable condition for satisfactory results.

HIS NECK DISLOCATED.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Henry Hollan, a laborer, was buried in a cave-in while excavating in the sewer on Grace avenue, Monday afternoon, and suffered a forward dislocation of the third cervical vertebrae. Hollan was rescued by fellow workmen in an unconscious condition and was hurried to St. Joseph hospital in the police ambulance, where Dr. L. E. Brown attended him. Hollan was completely paralyzed below the shoulders and it was thought that his injuries would prove fatal. It was seen that extreme measures would be necessary to save the man's life and he submitted to an operation similar to that for replacing dislocated joints. The injured man was strapped to the operating table and the attending physician pulled his head until the bones of the neck slipped back into place. An immediate improvement resulted and within a few minutes Hollan recovered consciousness and was able to move his arms and legs. It is believed that he will recover. Dr. Brown was assisted in the operation by Dr. A. H. Macbeth.

MYRON T. HERRICK,
Governor-Elect of Ohio.

SYLVAN COURT TO FIND INCENDIARY

Montgomery Citizens Hold Justice Confab Al Fresco and Choose Course.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 10.—Meeting in the woods on the outskirts of the mining town of Montgomery, Daviess county, a score of citizens held court and examined witnesses in their endeavor to find the person who has caused them a property loss of $50,000. A jury of twelve men heard the evidence given by citizens who were hastily summoned from their homes, and it is said that the guilt of one young man has been partly established.

Some time ago anonymous letters were received by several persons warning them to leave the town under threats of having their homes dynamited. Later a citizen received a letter demanding that $2,000 be placed in a certain spot or the town would be burned. No attention was paid to the threat and two weeks later houses in different parts of the town were fired and property valued at $20,000 destroyed. Then came another demand for money and again houses were set on fire, the loss amounting to $30,000.

A young man named Edward Bigham fell under suspicion and was arrested, but the state failed to make a case against him. Another inquiry was set on foot, but resulted in nothing. Then the people of the town determined to act and the court in the woods was the result. The evidence will be placed in the hands of the proper officials.

Defeated Democratic Candidate for Governor of Ohio.

SAYS STUDENT WAS VICTIM OF MURDER

Cousin of Young Man Hazed to Death in Baltimore Gives Details.

New York, Nov. 10.—Dr. Leopold Hirschmann, of this city, a cousin of Martin Loew, a medical student, whose death occurred recently at Baltimore soon after his initiation into a Greek letter fraternity, says he has received details of the affair from a fellow student. The latter declared that when Loew went to the fraternity hall to take the first degree, he was met by twenty-five men. He was told to undress and after doing so was blindfolded and taken into a room where he was laid upon a cake of ice. He was then carried upstairs to the balcony and thrown over the rail—a drop of twenty-five feet.

On the floor beneath stood a number of students holding a sheet.

"When Loew fell into this," said the doctor, "he was tossed up and down until he was unconscious. After being revived he was beaten until his body was a mass of bruises.

"That night he was in such a wretched condition that his roommate stayed up all night with him. Whisky and quinine were given to him during the night and in the morning he felt relieved.

"The following Saturday he took the second degree. In the morning he was found dead, and his chum, who had just taken the first degree, was in a serious condition. The guilty ones should be sent to the gallows. They are murderers."

FORT WAYNE IS AN EASY WINNER

Opening Game of Polo Season is Played at the Princess Rink.

GOOD-SIZED CROWD THERE

Snappy and Interesting Game Taken from the Team from Lafayette.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Skeptics who attended the polo game between the Fort Wayne and Lafayette teams at Princess rink last night came away convinced that the game will be accorded the same rank as a winter amusement as is given base ball in the summer months.

The attendance was not large, for the reason that professional polo is new in Fort Wayne. There was a decided lack of enthusiasm as the men came on the surface for a preliminary warm-up, but within fifteen minutes after play had begun the air of listlessness had disappeared and there was a faithful band of rooters in the seats.

One minute and twenty-eight seconds after play begun Leydon caught the ball fair on the end of his stick, shot it across the surface like it had been fired from a rifle and the first goal for Fort Wayne resulted. Less than a minute afterward Captain Canavan drove a goal from the center of the surface, while it required two minutes of hard play for Jason to cage the next one. Leydon captured the next two goals and the first period had almost waned before Lafayette got one past Sutton.

SECOND PERIOD.

Lafayette's quintette showed better form in the second period and stood the locals off, for seven minutes and fifty-eight seconds before a goal was made. Shuttleworth's work in front of the goal was responsible for the long, hard play, as he made some brilliant stops and was kept exceedingly busy. Jason made the first goal.

Gavitt, for Lafayette, after five minutes of furious fighting, nursed the ball along the west surface line for an opening and shot it past Sutton for a tally. Wiley caged the next in half a minute, Canavan drove the next and followed, closing the period with Fort Wayne comfortably in the lead.

THIRD PERIOD.

Forty-six seconds after the referee's whistle blew for the third period Gavitt scored the third and last goal of the game for Lafayette. The fastest play of the evening followed and for eight minutes both teams put forth their strongest efforts, Fort Wayne finally landing a goal in nine minutes and fourteen seconds. Neither side got counting territory during the remainder of the game.

The attendance was not large, but the game will draw. There is not a dull minute from the start to the finish of the game, and people who were there applauded the play and gave every evidence of intense interest. In view of the fact that the Fort Wayne players had never played as much as a practice game together the team work was good. Captain Canavan, aside from being in the game at all times, is a good general and the men already begin to show effects of his drilling in team work, though Jason has not had the benefit of working out with his team mates.

McGrath is a stone wall at half back and devoted most of his time last night to blocking. He is a strapping big fellow, with a good knowledge of the game, and a tower of strength in scrimmages. Sutton's work in front of the cage was of high order and indicates that the assertion that Fort Wayne had secured one of the best goal tends in the business was no idle boast.

Leydon was the bright particular star of the evening. He is a hard worker and was a factor in all of the goals made by the local team. Jason's rushing marks him as a dangerous opponent for any of the teams that will stack up against Fort Wayne. On the whole, the men created a good impression last night and the opening was, all things considered, very satisfactory.

Shuttleworth, for the visitors, played a most excellent goal. Gavitt was a little slow in his rushes, but was up and after the ball all through the game and divided the honors with Wiley. The score:

The Allen County Courts

WEDNESDAY.

All local records for single day receipts for taxes were smashed Monday when a total of about $115,000 poured into the coffers of the Allen county treasury. Deputy Treasurer Will Rohan says that no previous day's receipts in the history of the county approaches this figure.

Monday was the last day for payment of the fall installment of taxes without penalty, and there was a stupendous rush by property owners to get inside the time limit. Several thousand people visited the county treasurer's office in person, while no inconsiderable amount of the receipts came by mail. The final day of the spring installment was but $70,000, and this was considered an unusually heavy day's receipt.

Payment of taxes this year, Mr. Rohan says, has been more prompt than heretofore, and there are now fewer delinquents upon the books than usual. The total amount collected for taxes this fall is something like $450,000, but the additional amounts for improvements, including pavements, ditches, etc., brings the entire receipts up to about $700,000. The office is now closed preparing the settlement balances, and it will probably re-open next Monday. The settlement with the state is not made until the closing week of the year.

INVOLVES SOME TITLES.

Judge R. B. Dreibelbiss filed suits in the superior court this morning on behalf of Mary Smith against Mary R. Lamont and John and Christian Kull in which he asks that certain real estate in the city be partitioned and the titles quieted.

Suits along the same lines will be instituted against Emma Griffin, Mr. and Mrs. Greulick, Elizabeth Griebel, Julia Speckman and John and Ada Schaphorst and the actions will involve a rather peculiar condition and some difficult legal propositions.

The parties against whom the suits have been instituted are owners of homes located on Third street and on Poplar street in this city and most of them have been in peaceable possession of their property for a great number of years.

Mrs. Smith is the widow of William E. Smith, with whom she came to Fort Wayne in 1867, one year after their marriage. He held an interest in a patent right which he came here to sell and in disposing of it he came into possession of the property that is now involved. This property was transferred by him to other parties and the wife sets up the claim that she did not join in the conveyances and did not know of the ownership of the property until after the death of her husband and then found it out through the discovery of an old deed.

She asks now that her dower interest of one-third be set aside to her, but this is to be computed upon the value of the lots at the time of the conveyance by her husband and will not include any interest in the permanent improvements. The suits are based on the assumption that Mrs. Smith had no knowledge of the fact that her husband owned the property until after his death and in consequence the statue of limitation did not begin to operate against her until she was made aware of the fact two years ago.

GENERAL COURT NEWS.

The breach of promise suit instituted last week by Rose Brown against John Landin was dismissed yesterday afternoon in the circuit court.

Following the suit of the Peters Cartridge company against Koehlinger & Baur, filed in the circuit court yesterday afternoon, Judge O'Rourke appointed the Citizens' Trust company receiver for the firm. He alleges that he boarded one of the company's cars Sept. 19, of this year, with just one five-cent piece in his pocket. He tendered it to the conductor, who not only refused it but ejected him from the car and he was compelled to walk home.

It is further alleged that in the presence of a number of persons the conductor informed Hirschfelder that the nickel he tendered was bad and humiliated him. As a further for action he says he was suffrom rheumatism and that the consequent upon his ejectment the car damaged him $500

After deliberating all night the circuit court jury that heard the evidence in the damage suit of Crecenia Schimele against Keller & Braun returned a verdict this morning in favor of the firm. Mr. Schimele was employed as a driver by the firm and was thrown from a wagon two years ago, sustaining injuries that caused his death. The case has been on trial for two days.

SATURDAY.

Application was made by the board of children's guardians in the juvenile court this morning for the custody of Felecia Fettig, the "Little Tootsie" of the famous Hasenfuss murder trial.

The petition sets out that the board secured the custody of the child on May 1, 1900, and that she had previous to that time been in the care of Mrs. Mattie Hasenfuss, who was convicted of manslaughter and sent to the woman's prison at Indianapolis for a term of years. On May 29, 1902, John B. Babb, who lives near Eaton, Ind., made application throught Attorney S. L. Morris for the child, and on June 26, following, it was granted.

Mrs. Hasenfuss has since been released from the prison on either a pardon or parole and is married to Elias Babb, the brother of the man who adopted the little girl. Since the release of the woman from prison she has had practically the control of the little one and the members of the board decided at a recent meeting that she is not a proper person and Attorney H. I. Smith was directed to make the application. An order was issued instructing that the girl be brought into court November 16th.

John B. Babb is said to have written a number of letters in which he states that he is old and infirm and not in position to give his charge the proper care and has requested that the custody be transferred to his brother, the husband of Mrs. Hasenfuss. These letters brought about an investigation and the succeeding action of the board.

During the progress of the Hasenfuss trial Felecia was in the court room and proved herself an attractive little body and in addition was brought into public notice through the newspapers.

MR. MAUTNER IN COURT.

Isadore Mautner, the principal witness in the prosecution of George Mullin, charged with perjury, was in the circuit court this morning and explained that he had never been summoned to appear when the case was last set for trial. Prosecutor Emrick stated he had notified Mr. Mautner several days before the trial. Judge O'Rourke secured a promise that the witness would be on hand Dec. 16 and did not require a bond.

The case against William Meyer, jr., former county auditor, has been set for trial in the circuit court on Dec. 2. Prosecutor Emrick has decided to dispose of all of the state cases during this month and the following have been set for trial:

John Kennedy, assault and battery, November 17; Jesse Felker, petit larceny, November 17; George W. Ott, assault and battery, November 17; Sam Baum, selling unwholesome fruit, November 17; M. C. GENERAL COURT NEWS.

Mahala Ann Zeimer has declined to accept the provisions of the will of her late husband, Martin Zeimer, and filed her renunciation yesterday. She will take her dower interest in the estate. George Zeimer was appointed administrator.

MONDAY.

For the third time within less than one year of her marriage Mrs. Beatrice Panne has filed a divorce complaint against Henry Panne.

They were married last February. June 12, under the name of Verna B. Panne, she asked for a divorce. A reconciliation was effected and the action was withdrawn.

August 28 she filed another action for divorce and the case came to trial. After nearly a day had been spent in hearing the testimony, it became evident that the evidence would not warrant a decree and the case was dismissed at her cost.

The two first suits were filed in the superior court and that of today is in the circuit court. She alleges that on November 3 she met her husband on the highway and he choked and beat her, and again he arose from their bed during the night and threatened to poison her in such a manner that the fact would never become known, adding that if his contemplated crime should come to light he would seek the great beyond over the suicide route. P. B. Colerick filed the suit.

WARM CROSS COMPLAINT.

Blanche Freiburger has filed a cross-complaint in the divorce suit brought some months ago by her husband, Peter Freiburger, a member of the city fire department, in which her attorney has devoted six sheets of legal cap to a recital of his cruelties. In the first place, she alleges that he associates with women of doubtful character, and that he has since a few weeks after their marriage in 1891 used toward her and their children the most abusive and foul language, of which a few sample quotations are set forth.

She further says that three months after their third child was born he told her she was able to do her own housework and refused to procure help for her. Another allegation is to the effect that he told a neighbor he did not believe he was the father of their second child, because it was so different from the others. He is also accused of having struck her in the face with his fists two months before the birth of their last child, and adds that because of his refusal to make proper provision there was no clothing awaiting the arrival of the little one and that his sister was forced to get raiment for the child.

She also says that while she was ill shortly after the birth of the baby she asked permission to use one of his shirts to provide dry clothing for her, and he said he would burn the —— thing before he would allow her to use it. She wants a divorce, custody of the children and alimony.

TOO MANY IN FAMILY.

Fred Marquardt has made an application for a modification of the decree of divorce secured last June by his wife in which she was given the custody of their five children. He says that one of the children has been given into the custody of a lady outside of the family and that since the divorce his former wife has married Treaves M. Kreager, who has five children and that on account of the large increase in the family she is not able to give the little ones proper care.

BABY BORN AT POOR FARM.

Carrie Trish was granted a divorce this afternoon by Judge Heaton on a cross-complaint filed in a suit brought by her husband, David L. Trish, about two years ago. She testified that he had failed for a year and a half to make any provision for her and that prior to their separation he forced her to go to the poor farm, where her youngest child was born. Two of their three children are being cared for by the husband's family and the other was adopted through the medium of the board of children's guardians. Her maiden name of Caroline Schifferly was restored.

GENERAL COURT NEWS.

The suit of Edward Gilmartin and others against the Kahoe Boat company has been set for trial in the superior court on Nov. 16.

Elizabeth Pohlman was granted a divorce this afternoon from Christian Pohlman. They have been before the court for some time seeking a decree.

William Miller, charged with receiving iron stolen from the Lake Shore railroad, is on trial in the circuit court.

An affidavit was filed in Justice Tancey's court this afternoon against a young man named Robertson, charging him with breaking a window in Frank Casso's fruit store, at Calhoun and Brackenridge streets.

TUESDAY.

A jury in the circuit court is hearing the evidence today in the claim of Josephine Bolds against the estate of Louis Gerke on which a suit was brought some time ago against Maria E. Gerke, the administratrix.

The defense is made and the claim was refused upon the assertion that Mr. Gerke did not execute the note and that if he did it was raised from $65 to $1,665. Mr. Gerke lived in the southern portion of the county and transacted all of his business at Decatur. The attorneys with the exception of Judge Alden, who represents the estate, and Henry Colerick, who represents Mrs. Bolds, are all from Decatur and a number of bankers and bank employes from that city are here to testify as to the signature on the note.

JURY FAILED TO AGREE.

The jury in the circuit court that heard the evidence in the case against William Miller, charged with receiving stolen goods, reported at noon that a verdict could not be reached and the judge discharged them. They had been out since yesterday afternoon. Miller is said to have bought scrap iron that he knew had been stolen from the Lake Shore Railroad company.

PEVERT GETS LIGHT FINE.

J. L. Pevert, charged with a vicious assault upon Leland M. Potts, 6 years old, was fined $5 and costs by Justice Strass this morning. Pevert conducts a grocery at Hayden and Winter streets and two physicians testified that the lad was badly hurt. Pevert acknowledged slapping the boy, but denied that he inflicted severe injuries.

TOO FOND OF LIQUOR.

In a complaint filed yesterday afternoon by Breen & Morris, Allen P. Baker asks a divorce from Marion Baker to whom he was married in 1891, and who packed up and left him five years later. He is authority for the statement that his wife was the possessor of a violent temper that was ungovernable and that his efforts to calm her at such times brought on a furious passion in the course of which she demolished the household furniture, threatened to shoot him dead and to drive a knife through his heart.

Another failing credited to her is a fondness for alcoholic liquor that frequently made it necessary for him to call the police into his home in the interest of peace and quietude. The fact that she deserted him and her conduct before brought such disgrace upon him that he was forced to leave the home of his boyhood and seek balm for his perturbed mind in Fort Wayne.

JURORS DRAWN.

The jury commissioners drew the following names to serve as grand jurors during the present term of the circuit court: Alfred Chausee, Jackson township; Charles Zimmerman, Cedar Creek; Louis Bultemeier, Geo. A. Morton, Frederick Hitzeman, Marion; John Duering, Maumee.

SEEKS WENTZ; MADE CAPTIVE.

Big Stone Gap, Va., Nov. 10.—There is reliable authority for the statement that D. B. Wentz, brother of E. L. Wentz, the missing Philadelphia millionaire, has received a letter from one of the Pinkerton detectives he has employed, stating that he is being held captive in the mountains and that he has important news regarding E. L. Wentz.

A man named Whitaker, who is of good reputation, states that the detective started for the mountains several days ago to visit John Wright, an outlaw, who was believed to know something about the disappearance of young Wentz. The detective did not return, but sent a letter saying that he had seen Wright and had obtained important news, but that when he started down the mountain he was ordered back by armed men.

Three times he tried to escape and failed. The third time he was hidden in a wagon, but was discovered and was carried back to a place near the home of Wright and made a prisoner.

The Ladies' Catholic Benevolent association gave a progressive pedro at Library hall last evening, which was highly enjoyed by more than 150 guests. First prizes were won by Mrs. Hugh Hogan and John G. Betzler, while the consolations went to Mrs. Quinn and George Zurbuch.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 11, 1903.

The president's message deals with Cuban reciprocity with a brevity congress can profitably imitate.

If Colombia puts an army into Panama it will go in over the hills and not by sea. A "peaceful blockade" by American warships is going to forestall trouble and keep the canal route open.

There ought to be some way to put the Calhoun street tunnel question up to the people for decision upon it. The grade crossing nuisance and dangers grow in seriousness daily, and the city is no nearer a realization of a remedy than it was when the project first was broached.

Senator Hanna has called on the president and discussed the coming campaign with him. He has been pressed by President Roosevelt to remain at the head of the republican organization and has demurred, but given, it is believed, no final answer. Meanwhile the Hanna talk will go on, because the fellows who are talking Hanna mean it.

Abdul Hamid, forced into the rear row by strenuous events in the far east and on the isthmus for a few days, has come forward with a protest and assertion of his rights to a place where the glare from the footlights can strike him. He has found a section of Armenia that needs attending to and a considerable army has gone forward to let recalcitrant Armenians know that if they have been neglected they have not been forgotten.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon at last sits in the long coveted chair of the speakership of the American house of representatives. The honor has been well won by a long life of service in the house and those who know the fine old gentleman from Illinois best are warmest in their congratulations. Speaker Cannon is a hard-headed, honest and practical legislator, a good hot partisan, but wholly fair, and equipped by more than a quarter of a century of experience to discharge the duties of his high place with all the ability and readiness of any of his distinguished predecessors.

PRESIDENT'S CUBAN MESSAGE.

The president's message to congress on the business for which that deliberative body has been assembled in extraordinary session is brief and wholly McKinley. It was president urges legislation essary to give effect to the Cuban treaty. He well says that Cuba occupies a unique position in relation to the United States and substantial recognition of that fact must be forthcoming. While the president puts forth some reasons of sentiment in his claim for Cuba, his message in the main deals with conditions now present and contingencies prospective that unite to make a strong case for reciprocity with the new republic this nation brought into being.

Happily the outlook is very favorable for congressional action of a very satisfactory kind. The attitude of the majority has changed if its sentiment has not and that, so far as the needs of the situation are to be regarded, is quite the same thing. The "sugar crowd" has gybed its sail to more pleasant winds than bore it on when the issue was presented before, and while opposition may here and there crop out, it will be more to save faces than to obstruct the passage of laws to establish reciprocal tariff relations with Cuba.

Of course it is better late than never and by the philosophy of that it is well congress has been summoned to enact the laws that will give to Cuba what we plainly owe her in the way of trade opportunities; but it serves at the same time to emphasize that the business might quite as well have been disposed of long ago.

PENNING UP A NEIGHBOR.

The government at Washington has decided upon and inaugurated a bristling policy with reference to affairs on the Isthmus of Panama. The new republic is going to have its troubles borne by its accommodating and able Uncle Samuel. Colombia, from which Panama has just seceded, is not going to have any opportunity to go in pursuit of its wayward child. Colombia is to be penned up at home by United States warships. No Colombian troops will be permitted to embark from Colombian ports for ports in Panama. It is practically impossible for Colombia to send an army over the mountains. In consequence Panama is not in great peril of recapture and speaking by its late parent.

The government at Washington has discerned with great promptitude that an isthmian canal through the republic of Panama follows the pleasant route of Easy street from Colon to Panama, a vastly different proposition from the isthmian canal route that once pursued its difficult course across Colombian territory. A few warships and a nervy game will vouchsafe the more delightful way.

It looks more and more as though the Senegambian in this fuel pile were going to develop into a Yankee sort of personage widely known and respected as one U. Sam. Such a readiness for all emergencies of situation and policy never before fell out by accident, if that has been the case this time. And to all appearances it hasn't. Even European powers look on with an indifference that appears suspiciously practiced and knowing.

Something to Eat

Nut Hush—One cupful of roasted peanuts, one cupful of potatoes, one cupful of bread crumbs, one cupful of sweet milk, one teaspoonful of salt and one saltspoonful of pepper. The nuts and bread should be ground in the universal grinder, the potatoes chopped in a bowl. Cook slowly in buttered skillet, turning once; when brown, turn out whole on a platter. Serve with sweet pickles.

Cereal Gingerbread—Beat together one-half cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of brown sugar, a tablespoonful of melted butter, two teaspoonfuls of cinnamon and one tablespoonful of ginger. When this mixture is pale yellow in color add a cupful of sour cream, a heaping teaspoonful of soda dissolved in water and two and one-half cupfuls of fine oatmeal, to which has been added a teaspoonful of salt. Beat hard and bake in small tins. These are wholesome and good.

Chestnut Cream—Two pounds of chestnuts, one-half pint of milk or water, six ounces of castor sugar, one-half pint of double cream, vanilla. Cook the chestnuts in salted boiling water till both skins can be removed. Then pass them through a course sieve and place them in a saucepan, with the milk or water, well flavored with vanilla and the sugar. Stir over the fire till the moisture is quite absorbed. When perfectly dry, rub the puree through a wire sieve and arrange it in a circle on a dish. When cool pile well whipped cream, sweetened, flavored with vanilla, in the center.

Celery Toast—Cream one tablespoonful butter and one tablespoonful flour, one-half teaspoon salt; add three cups of milk. Cook until it thickens, then add one-half cup of chopped celery leaves which have simmered twenty minutes. Cover toast and serve.

Sour Milk Bread—Two cups sour milk (or buttermilk); stir into the milk well one teaspoon soda, then add the following: One-quarter cup brown sugar, one teaspoon salt, two cups of graham or whole wheat flour, one and one-half cups white flour. Bake one hour in well-greased pan.

Fruit Soup—One-half pound raisins, one-half pound prunes, one-quarter pound currants, one-quarter pound dried raspberries, three apples, one-half stick cinnamon, juice of one-half lemon, sugar and one-half tablespoon sago. Wash, then simmer the fruit and seasonings all together about three hours in water enough to keep well covered, then strain and add sugar and sago. Cook until dissolved. Serve either hot or iced.

Coffee Jelley With Dates—One-half box of gelatine; cover with cold water and let stand one hour. Then put three cups of coffee, one cup sugar and the soaked gelatin in basin, heat until dissolved, stir often; do not boil. Strain through cheesecloth. When almost hard stir in as many dates as desired (after stones are removed), let harden and serve with whipped cream.

Potato Cake—One-half cup butter, two cups sugar, one-half cup milk, two teaspoons baking powder, two cups flour, four eggs, one cup mashed potatoes, five tablespoons melted chocolate, one cup chopped nuts, one teaspoon each of cinnamon, allspice and nutmeg. Cream the butter and sugar. Add milk and flour alternately, after sifting flour and baking powder together. Then add cup of mashed potato, the spices, chocolate, nuts and lastly the eggs, beaten stiff. Bake in moderate oven in well-greased pan.

Sardine Omelet—Skin and bone half a dozen sardines; melt a heaping teaspoonful butter in a clean frying pan and fry them lightly for one minute. Prepare an omelet mixture of six eggs, cook it in the ordinary way, and when sufficiently set to be folded over lay the fish neatly in the center; season with a saltspoon each of salt and pepper. Serve immediately in a warm dish and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Cranberries with Citron—Cook three cupfuls of citron (pared and cut in small squares) in water to cover until tender. Add one cupful of cranberries, two cupfuls of sugar, and cook twenty minutes longer. Use half quantity of sugar if a more acid sauce is preferred.

Chocolate Almond Strudel (Mrs. Lemcke)—For the paste, put half a tablespoonful of butter with half a cup of warm milk, a saltspoon of salt and yolk of one egg into a bowl, and mix it with sufficient sifted flour to make a soft dough; put the dough onto a floured board and work it with the hands for ten minutes; it should be soft, but not stick to the hands; brush the paste over with a little warm water; rinse out a bowl with boiling water and put it over the paste; let it lie one-half hour, after that time has elapsed cover a kitchen table with a white cloth, dust with flour, put the dough in the center of table and pull it out as thin as possible, like paper; when one side is pulled out lay a rolling pin on it while you pull out the other side. For the filling stir the yolks of three eggs with two tablespoonfuls of sugar to a cream, and add the whites beaten to a stiff froth; brush the pulled out strudel, paste over with melted butter, and then spread over the egg mixture; next sprinkle over three ounces of finely grated chocolate and two ounces of finely cut almonds, roll it up and lay into a buttered pan; brush over with a beaten egg and bake in a medium hot oven to a light brown; when done, sprinkle over a little grated chocolate and sugar; serve cold with cream sweetened with sugar.

English Muffins—Scald one pint of milk; add two ounces of butter. When cool stir in one-half of a yeast cake which has been dissolved in half a cupful of tepid water, and an even teaspoonful of salt. Sift three cupfuls of flour, sift them into the milk, beat well and smooth. Cover with a cloth, let rise over night. Half fill well greased muffin rings and bake twenty minutes on a griddle, for breakfast.

Winchester Potato Puffs—Beat without separating one egg light, melt one teaspoonful of butter. To one cupful of finely mashed potato, add half a cupful of milk, the egg and butter, half a saltspoonful of salt. Beat until quite light. Fill greased popover pan half full of the mixture and brown in a quick oven. Take out carefully with a limber knife, and serve at once in a hot dish.

Baked Cranberries—In an earthen dish put two cupfuls of well-washed cranberries and sufficient water to cover them. Cover the dish, put into a moderately hot oven and bake until the berries are soft. Then stir in one large cupful of granulated sugar and bake fifteen minutes longer. Serve cold.

Rice Fritters—One quart sweet milk, four even tablespoonfuls rice flour, four tablespoonfuls granulated sugar. Dissolve flour in half a cupful of milk. Scald the rest of milk, and when it comes to a boil stir in the sugar, then the flour slowly, a saltspoonful of salt, and keep stirring constantly until flour is cooked. Remove from stove, beat well with spoon and add one-half teaspoonful of vanilla, or less, according to taste. When cool put into ice chest and serve with cream.

Oyster Cocktails—This is a seasonable time to serve various cocktails, and oysters make one of the easiest servings. Remove the round muscle from thirty small oysters, rinse and drain them and set in the ice box until chilled. Mix together one teaspoon and a half of freshly grated horseradish, three scant tablespoons of lemon juice, one tablespoon of Worcestershire, four teaspoons of tomato catsup, a few drops of tobasco sauce and two-thirds of a teaspoon of salt. Add the oysters and divide among five or six glasses or place in peppers.

Stewed Carrots—This recipe is furnished by a southern cook, who knows that carrots are one of the most nutritious of vegetables, and if once prepared in this manner many who never could eat them will appreciate and like the dish. Fry one onion chopped fine in a stew pot with a tablespoon of butter, brown a spoon of flour and add it, then a half can of tomato and a half cup or more of minced ham. Into this mixture put a pint and a half of cleaned carrots sliced thin and pour boiling water to barely cover. Stew slowly until the carrots are tender. Season with half teaspoon of salt (if ham is salty) and dash or two of paprika.

Baked Indian Pudding—Make plain without fruit or eggs to have it at its best. Hot cream seasoned with maple sugar makes a nice sauce or some fruit as suggested is good.

Berlin, Nov. 10.—The war ministry authorizes the Associated Press to deny the report, published by a news agency in the United States yesterday that the ministry for war had prohibited the sale in the German army and navy of cigars or cigarettes of the American Tobacco company, and that only German goods would be allowed to be sold.

REFEREE WANTS VIGOROUS ACTION

Intends Appointing Special Attorneys in Three Bank Cases.

Referee Harris is dissatisfied with the progress that has been made in the investigation of the affairs surrounding the failure of the McClellan bank at Auburn, the Kinney bank at Angola and the Ellison bank at Lagrange. He believes the trustees have not been sufficiently aggressive in delving into the real inwardness of the situation in each of these cases.

The referee will insist that in all the cases the trustee in bankruptcy shall go to the bottom of things in his attempt to secure all available assets for the creditors, and to investigate thoroughly the situation surrounding the failures. In order to facilitate matters Mr. Harris today announced his intention of appointing one Fort Wayne attorney in each of these cases to assist in probing matters and will urge the necessity for the most vigorous investigation. Mr. Harris believes the trustees, though vigilant and trustworthy, have thus far devoted their efforts to minor matters, and that the more important phases of the cases yet remain to be investigated.

Mr. Harris stated also that the attorneys who would be appointed in the cases would be Judge A. A. Chapin, Samuel L. Morris and James B. Harper. One will be assigned to each case and they will proceed with a most searching inquiry into the bankrupt estates.

SOUTHWESTERN HIT BY A BIG VERDICT

Huntington Man Gets Judgment for $5,750 Damages in Suit at Wabash.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Wabash, Ind., Nov. 6.—The case of O. P. Nixon against S. P. Stults, a liveryman at Huntington, and the Fort Wayne and Southwestern traction company, came to a close in the Wabash circuit court Thursday evening, Nixon securing a judgment for $5,750 against the interurban company. Mr. Stults escaped liability.

The action was for personal damages and has been occupying the attention of the circuit court for two weeks, presenting one of the hardest fought legal battles ever seen in this city. It grew out of an accident at Huntington in November, 1902. Nixon had attended a performance at the opera house in that city and at the close of the theater went with two ladies and another gentleman to Stults' livery stable to secure a cab to take them home.

The rig was hitched up, the quartet climbed into the carriage and John Ellis mounted the driver's seat. In leaving the barn the cab was struck by a Southwestern car, wrecking the carriage and injuring a number of the occupants. Nixon asserts that his hearing was permanently affected and sued for damages, both he and the liveryman contending that at the time the cab was struck the car was being run backward at an illegal speed. Nearly a dozen lawyers were interested in the case, N. D. Doughman, of the firm of Olds & Doughman, of Fort Wayne, appearing for the traction company.

The verdict was considerable of a surprise in many quarters, it having been generally expected that the traction company and the liveryman would be held jointly liable for the damages. The traction company will in all probability appeal the case.

WOMEN PICKET THE SALOONS.

Carlyle, Ill., Nov. 10.—Sunday the members of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Keysport did picket duty in the vicinity of the two saloons there and saw that no drinks were sold. Two would stand guard for an hour, when two more would take their places. The front entrance and windows to the saloons were closely guarded from 7 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night. The women also kept watch over a gambling house. Not a drink was sold nor a game of poker played in the village. The women made this move because the village board refused to order the saloons closed on Sunday, and they say the guard duty will be kept up unless the law is enforced. It is also alleged that the trustees will be prosecuted for failing to do their duty.

Dr. Miles' Nervine Cured Him.

Weak, nervous, fretful, puny children require a treatment such as only Dr. Miles' Nervine affords. When neglected these symptoms lead to epileptic fits or insanity. Every mother should strengthen her own and babies' nerves with Dr. Miles' Nervine, a true specific in all nervous disorders. Read the following:

"When my little boy was 18 months old, he had cramps in his feet and hands. They would be drawn out of shape for two or three days. At first liniment seemed to help him, in about two weeks nothing did any good the doctor gave him. We called another doctor but his medicine did no good so we changed to another who called it spinal disease. By this time the child's body was drawn out of shape; his backbone was curved to one side and his hands and feet out of shape. His sufferings were terrible, and he was having from two to six fits a day. I was taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine for nervous trouble and saw it was recommended for fits, so I thought I would see if it would help him. All three doctors had given him up. One-half bottle stopped the fits and his limbs straightened, and another bottle cured him. He is now a strong, healthy boy going to school. I have waited to see if the old trouble returned, before writing you, but it never has. I cannot praise Dr. Miles' Nervine enough, as I know it saved my boy's life."—MRS. CHOSE A BAD PLACE TO SELL THE WHEEL

Ran Into Arms of Police in His Great Haste—In Municipal Court.

(From Tuesday's Daily.)

Milton Granger was fined $5 and costs in police court this morning on the charge of stealing a bicycle from Louis P. Stapleford and in addition was given a sixty-day jail sentence.

He went to Stapleford's stable yesterday afternoon and offered a graphophone for sale and failing to make a deal he left the machine in the office of the stable and went outside, where in plain view of the owner, he mounted the bicycle and rode away with it.

Stapleford flew to the police station to report the matter and as he was talking to Lieutenant Lapp the thief rode up to a second hand store on Barr street, opposite police headquarters and offered the wheel for sale. The lieutenant nabbed him and a plea of guilty was entered this morning. The department is seeking an owner for the graphophone.

"NEVAH SWO' A OATH."

"No suh, sho's theah's a God I nevah swo' a oath in the house. Cose they had to fix up sumthin' on me an' I got nobody but mahself and theah's three o' them, an' that's all theah is to it, but I nevah swo'." This was Louis Jackson's plea to a charge of provoke preferred by George J. Williams. He was acquitted, but the testimony indicated that he had said some things highly derogatory to the character of Verna King and she was provoked, whereupon Jackson was soaked to the tune of $1 and costs. The parties are negroes and the head and front of Jackson's offending is that he has fixed his affections in a quarter in which Williams believes he is entitled to a patent right.

A PLAIN DRUNK.

John Massey was the next offender. He had imbibed to the stage of d. t. and was trying yesterday morning to climb a hot stove pipe. He is a cigarmaker and Detective Rulo got him.

REFUSE TO OBEY COURTS MANDATE

Chicago Concern is Laying Up Trouble in a Columbia City Case.

Chicago parties are very likely to be called upon to face some very serious trouble in connection with a federal bankruptcy action which was filed a few weeks ago in the United States court in Fort Wayne. They are openly defying the order of Judge Anderson, and court officials here will not be at all surprised if the offending parties are brought to with a sharp turn very shortly.

When creditors of the Columbia City Heel Manufacturing company recently began an action in involuntary bankruptcy against the company, it was alleged that the books of the company were in possession of Chicago stockholders of the company, including the Maxwell Leather company. Judge Anderson, in the federal court, appointed G. L. McLallen, of Columbia City, as temporary receiver in the matter, and issued an order for the transfer of the books and other effects of the company into his hands.

When Mr. McLallen made the demand upon the Chicago parties the latter absolutely refused to surrender the books of the Columbia City company, alleging that they were posting them. The matter has been referred to Judge Anderson, and it is said the attitude of the Chicago men in all probability constitutes contempt of court.

that the discussion was purely informal and not intended in manner to be decisive.

Shortly before 11 o'clock—the hour of the meeting of the cabinet—Senator Hanna arrived at the executive offices accompanied by W. J. Curtis, a member of the law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell, of New York, attorneys in this country for the new Panama Canal company. They were admitted to the president's private office at once.

Mr. Curtis remained only a few minutes. He said he merely paid his respects to the president. Senator Hanna remained with the president for more than half an hour. Long after the members of the cabinet had assembled he and the president continued to talk, several of the cabinet officers joining in the conversation.

"We talked of a variety of topics," said the senator, later, "among them the Panama situation. That is not a political question—not even a technical one. The people of this country want an isthmian canal built and they want it built by the Panama route. They have accepted the Panama route and they propose to stand by the president in the matter of constructing the canal by that route."

With the exception of a brief cablegram from Admiral Glass announcing his arrival at Panama, no cablegrams were received over night by the state and navy departments, so it is presumed that the statu quo is being maintained there. There is no expectation of a hostile clash on the isthmus in the immediate future, for it is believed that the Colombian government when fully advised of what has happened will accept the inevitable and not attempt to send troops to attack Panama in the face of the United States naval vessels guarding the approaches. The naval officials say they know nothing of the movements of the Nashville and other smaller naval vessels which are said to be voyaging up and down the isthmus, so they are doubtless acting solely under the orders of Captain Delano, the senior officer of the fleet, simply to acquire information as to conditions.

DEADLY BATTLE AT DOOR OF THEATER

Two Persons Killed and Two Hurt at Wallace, Idaho --Bystander Dead.

Wallace, Idaho, Nov. 10.—Two persons were killed and two wounded in a shooting affray at the entrance of the Wallace opera house last night. The shooting took place just as the theater-goers were leaving the theater, following a performance by the James O'Neill company.

The dead:

Dr. W. F. Fims, shot through head.

William Cuff, miner, shot three times.

The wounded:

Chief of Police McGovern, shot through hand.

Opera House Policeman Rose, shot in leg.

The trouble arose over Cuff insisting on smoking a cigar in the gallery. House Policeman Rose ordered him to stop, but he refused. The policeman took the cigar away from Cuff after a struggle. Cuff left the theater, vowing vengeance. He returned with a revolver and waited until the performance was over. Rose was the first to leave the opera house. As he stepped outside Cuff began firing. The first shots missed and Rose returned the fire. Dr. Fims, who was escorting a woman, followed Rose out and as he did so a bullet, presumably from Cuff's revolver, struck him in the head, killing him instantly. Other policemen appeared at this moment and a general fusilade followed.

The panic stricken theater-goers rushed back into the foyer, men and women being trampled upon in the mad rush to get away. Cuff continued firing, wounding Chief of Police McGovern and Special Officer Rose. Cuff then started to escape, but was intercepted at a side exit by Policeman Quinn, who kept up a running fire, three bullets taking effect. Cuff fell unconscious and died in fifteen minutes. A number of people were injured in the stampede. Cuff was a miner and served in the Philippines with an Idaho regiment. Dr. Fims is a well known surgeon of Wallace and leaves a family.

ON TRIAL FOR OLD MURDER.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Nov. 10.—James Lewis Myers was placed on trial in the circuit court yesterday for the murder of Branson Sloan in 1876. Sloan was intoxicated and annoyed Myers, his employer, by requests for money. Myers escaped and went to Tennessee, where he became a respected and prosperous citizen. In August he returned to see the old place, was recognized and arrested. One of the curious features of the case is that former Judge A. D. Thomas, who was prosecuting attorney at the time of the murder, is now Myers' counsel.

SEVEN FIRES IN 20 HOURS.

Michigan City, Ind., Nov. 10.—Seven fires in twenty hours is the record established in this city since Sunday night. Sunday night a barn in which several hundred dollars' worth of hay and grain was stored was destroyed. Early Monday morning flames destroyed the Lake Erie and Western railway company's tool and repair house. Three hours later a barn and poultry house was wiped out by the flames. Yesterday afternoon a lumber yard was destroyed. Last evening a residence, a warehouse and barn caught fire and damage to the extent of several hundred dollars was done. A fierce forest fire is raging in the hills west of here and the flames are being rapidly driven toward the city by a stiff west wind. Lines of hose have been laid to protect the residences at the foot of the hills.

THREE FORT WAYNE FIRMS SUBMIT PLANS

Local Architects in Competition for Court House at Huntington.

Three well known Fort Wayne architects are in the competition for the new court house to be erected at Huntington, and each has submitted drawings for a suitable county building embracing the prescribed requirements at about the figure designated as the approximate expenditure for the improvement.

These are Brentwood S. Tolan, who designed the big Fort Wayne court house and other public buildings elsewhere; Charles R. Weatherhogg, who designed the new Fort Wayne high school building, and Wing & Mahurin, whose latest public work of magnitude is the Indiana building at the St. Louis exposition.

In addition to these, nine firms in other cities have submitted plans, and as usual the Fort Wayne architects are making a favorable showing along with the very best architects in the west. The commissioners at Huntington are now in session considering the plans submitted, and each architect is given an hour in which to explain the merits of his plans. It is expected the commissioners will make a selection of plans during the present week.

OBITUARY—AMSTUTZ.

Mrs. Anna Amstutz, wife of P. S. Amstutz, died suddenly at her home, two miles northwest of Maysville, early Monday morning, Nov. 2d, after an illness of only one day. Death was due to collapse and consequent heart failure. Her age was 48 years, 25 days. She was married to Mr. Amstutz April 29th, 1880. Five children were born to this union, three sons and two daughters. In early life she confessed faith in Christ as her Saviour and united with the Mennonite church, of which she had since been a consistent member. Funeral services, conducted by Rev. Gerig, in the Mennonite church, at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday. A very large concourse of friends and relatives were in attendance as evidence of the esteem in which the family is held.

PREFERS FOSTER PARENTS.

Flora, Ind., Nov. 10.—After search for her daughter lasting nearly twelve years Mrs. S. M. Johnson, a wealthy Texas widow, formerly of Decatur, Ill., found the girl in the home of John W. Eller, northwest of this city, only to discover that she preferred to live with her adopted parents. As a result the Eller home is being guarded nightly in fear that an attempt will be made to kidnap the girl and take her away by force. Her mother is anxious to have her daughter enjoy the wealth to which she has a right and has offered the girl $15,000 to come and live with her, but she has refused. The girl and her mother were separated by divorce proceedings.

INDICT WHITECAPPERS.

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 10.—Fourteen prominent white men have been indicted by the federal grand jury at Jackson, Miss., on a charge of whitecapping a negro, or, in legal phrase, with conspiring to injure a government homesteader. Those indicted are G. L. and George Martin, John Canterberry, sr., John Canterberry, jr., Lige Canterberry, George Thompson, James Bruce, Tolbert Sellers, Grove Sellers, Samuel Harrison, Wilford Lee, Walter Barnhardt, Bernard Dickson and Oliver Parker.

KIDNAPED GIRL RECOVERING.

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 10.—"Miss Coffin is gradually regaining control of herself," said Postmaster Crow today, speaking of his niece, who came from New Jersey with a sensational story of hypnotic kidnaping last week. "The girl will not be able to travel for a week yet," he continued, "and her father will wait to come for her until he thinks she can accompany him. This is one of the most mysterious affairs I ever heard of. But I see no good reason for doubting the girl's story."

Watch is being kept for the Pullman conductor on whose train Miss Coffin came to Omaha. He is due here tomorrow.

LIGHTHOUSE IN A DESERT.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 10.—A lighthouse has been established in the great Arizona desert. Unlike the lighthouses which are set for the benefit of mariners, it is not a signal of danger, but of safety.

Two years ago a couple of desert prospectors died of thirst within a short distance of the place where the lighthouse has been established. Had the light then been there they would not have perished, for the light marks a well of water, the only water within thirty miles of the spot.

One life has already been saved by the establishment of the lighthouse, for an old German gave up the struggle with heat, sand and thirst and lay down to die. This was just at dusk. When it had become a little darker he chanced to open his eyes and saw a light. It gave him courage. He arose, staggered on until he came to the light and found water.

RUMDOM, BUMDOM, DUMBDOM.

A Parable to Illustrate the Truth Regarding the Evil of Intemperance.

A certain man had three sons, named Rumdom, Bumdon and Dumbdon. The old man's name was Christendom.

Rumdom and Bumdon were really stepsons of the old man, but as the old man paid all their bills and fed them at his own table, he found it difficult to convince the wayfaring man that they were not blood relations.

Rumdom was little and fat, and farseeing, by profession a wizard, who lived in an atmosphere of spirits. It was he who offered the family sacrifices, managed their politics and did eat bread by the sweat of his conscience.

Bumdon was a twin brother, not too fat nor too well dressed, but a sure enough brother, and a necessary part of the combination. It was he who relieved the family life of any peaceful monotony, over-much quietness, or lack of excitement.

Dumbdom was a hard working giant of a fellow, who provided for the family, so named because he was the dumbest one of the whole dumb family, though he knew how to "gee" and "haw" without the "aid or consent of any other nation." Among the various labors that Dumbdom performed, he tilled the soil and raised 40 bushels of grain, all of which was needed by the family and the neighbors.

In the process of time Rumdom devised a scheme to enrich the whole family. He proposed to offer one of the bushels of grain as a sacrifice on the altar of booze, and from its putrifying remains he would call forth spirits which would rival the fairies of old in their midnight wanderings and trifling with gold. The old man and boy liked it not; it seemed like a waste of grain, and the spirits which responded had a sulphurous smile, and did not do a strictly cash business. Rumdom argued that it would raise the price of grain, give employment to himself and make good times. He finally convinced the family by paying 34 cents for the bushel of grain and giving the old man a dollar for an indulgence. So Dumbdom went his way merrily jingling the 34 cents, and the old man was satisfied that he could not well keep house without the dollar.

Now it came to pass that when Rumdom offered his sacrifice, and called forth the spirits of Booze, he very generously turned them over to his brother Bumdom for $12.85 (nearly enough to pay for the other 39 bushels of grain), and he said: "Go to! There is money in it." With his newly purchased spirits Bumdom proceeded to go at once on an extended excursion into Booze-land, and straightway his wandering mind possessed itself of at least $1,000,000 of Booze wealth, a clear gain of $99,987.15 on his investment; besides, he felt confident that he could whip any man on the street. In the recklessness that is born of suddenly acquired wealth, Bumdom became hilarious, and in his extravagance whipped his wife and smashed $10 worth of furniture for the old man. Indeed, he behaved so badly that his spirit companions disappeared with all his new found wealth, and behold he was as other men (in the same fix).

Then did the family take council together, and did build a calaboose and put Bumdom within, and did feed him at their own expense, and did pay a man to watch and chastise him.

Now as Bumdom had no money to pay the damages, the old man turned to the boys for help, but that "son of Belial" Rumdom said: "Go to Pot! Did I not give you a dollar and get back no change?" Then was the old man abashed, and said: "The point is well taken, my dear, but for your money I might be in the poor house."

Then did the old man require the same from Dumbdom, who settled the bill to save the family from bankruptcy, and to give vent to his feeling he lifted up his voice and cursed the trusts, the tariff, foreign immigration, other nations, and the other political party.

Now it came to pass that the family had a great pow-wow to consider their troubles, and Dumbdom said: "These are hard times; I have raised food enough for all the family, but my brother Bumdom has had no money to buy, on the other hand I have been at a great expense to feed and clothe him; what shall I do?"

Old man Christendom said: "These are hard times; I have had to spend more to repair broken furniture this year than ever before, and that boy Bumdom, who ought to help support the family, has not given me a cent; but on the other hand, he has been so drunk and disorderly that I have been compelled to hire a man to take care of him. How shall I meet my expenses?"

Then did Rumdom look wise and say: "The spirit supply is running low, I will buy another bushel of grain and give another dollar for the privilege of selling the spirits to Bumdom, but I shall expect you to see that his wife does not disturb me in my business."

Then did they clasp him in their strong arms and say: "We need that $1.34; the one who interferes with you will have the whole family to whip."

They didn't see the point. Do you? —Rev. B. H. Shadduch, in New Era.

The Reform Brewers.

The president of the Indiana Brewers' association is planning a movement of reform among the saloons. He says the discreditable saloon must go. He says there are hundreds of saloons in Indiana run in such a manner as to bring reproach upon the business. People who try to conduct drinking places as they should be conducted have to bear the odium of the disgraceful ones. If President Schaff would reform the business, he must first reform the drink. Eliminate the alcohol from it.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson in the International Series for November 15, 1903—David's Trust in God.

The Lesson Text—Psalm 23.

(Ps. 23:1, 2.) "Jehovah is my shepherd:" For hundreds of years the Hebrews had been a shepherd nation. They knew as we cannot know the richness and beauty of this thought of Jehovah as a shepherd. In trying to realize what the Syrian shepherd was to the sheep we must remember that the Syrian pastures are not like ours, but vast stretches of half barren land in which streams are few and often dry, and which are infested with wild beasts and Arab robbers. With us sheep are turned out to pasture and left to themselves in perfect safety; but in the east the shepherd literally lives with his flock and shares their hardships and dangers with them. for only so can he provide for them and protect them. "I shall not want:" The perfect trust of one who knows God's care from experience. It does not say: "I shall never want anything I cannot have," but rather: "Whatsoever God sees is best for me, I know that He will do, for He loves me." "He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:" There are beautiful green oases in the most barren desert. The Great Shepherd does not abolish the desert, but helps us to find and to rest in the oases. It is when we follow Him most closely that the truest peace is found. "He leadeth me:" There is a great difference between leading and driving. In America we see sheep driven about by a man who, as Henry van Dyke says, "seems to be little more than a policeman to them." The Syrian shepherd leads, for in some of the pastures there are poisonous weeds, and he must be there first to remove them; he must select the pasture with the greatest care, and at the parting of the ways he with his superior wisdom must choose the right one, and because they have grown up with him and have never been disappointed by him the sheep follow him with implicit faith. Sheep have not very much wisdom, but they have enough to follow the shepherd, and that is sufficient. So we "shall not want" if only we have wisdom enough to follow our Shepherd. "Beside still waters:" Literally waters of rest.

(Vs. 3, 4.) "He restoreth my soul:" Or restores or refreshes me, for the Hebrew word for life and soul is one. The most faithful Christians need refreshing of spirit, and those who have wandered into dangerous, and therefore forbidden places, need also to be restored to the safety of the fold. Both meanings are in this expression. "The paths of righteousness:" The thought here is especially of the human flock. One would not naturally speak of righteous paths when referring to the sheep. To the sheep they are the paths that lead to what is best for them; they are the same to us. Perhaps sometimes our Shepherd leads us over stony ways; but He does not do it for His own sake, nor because He does not know the pain of the bruised and bleeding feet, but because there is no other way by which He can lead us out into the better life that awaits us beyond. But we do not suffer alone; He goes with us, and His feet are wounded as well as our own. And so we reach the better land through the sacrifice and blood of our shepherding Saviour. "The shadow of death:" Or, deep darkness. "The psalmist has not merely the experience of literal death in mind, but all experiences where the darkness is thick and profound.

(Vs. 5, 6.) "Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:" The figure seems to change here to that of a meal at which the psalmist thinks of himself as the protected guest of Jehovah. Foes he still has, but they cannot harm him. It is possible, however, as William A. Knight has shown, that it is a shepherd-psalm to the very end, for in reality the shepherd prepares the pasture for the flock in the midst of all kinds of dangers and "enemies," but they graze upon it in perfect security. "Thou hast anointed my head with oil:" A refreshing courtesy shown to guests in oriental lands, or the bathing or anointing of the bruised and weary sheep as it enters the fold at night. The shepherd has "the horn filled with olive oil, and he was cedar tar, and he anoints a knee bruised upon the rocks or a side scratched by thorns. And here comes one that is not bruised, but is simply worn and exhausted; he bathes its face and head with the refreshing olive oil, and he takes the large two-handle cup and dips it brimming full from the vessel of water provided for that purpose, and he lets the weary sheep drink. There is nothing finer in the psalm than this. God's care is not for the wounded only, but for the worn and weary also. 'He anointeth my head with oil, my cup runneth over.'"—W. A. Knight. "I shall dwell in the house of Jehovah forever:" Jehovah is my Shepherd; His house is the fold. I shall dwell as I am dwelling in His safe fold forever! A perpetual fellowship.

Read in connection with this psalm John 10:7-18 and Luke 15:1-7 for Christ's use of this same figure.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS.

Blessed is the man who can truly say: "The Lord is my shepherd!"

Blessed is the man who can say: "I shall not want." The Lord's shepherd care is better than any bank deposit.

Blessed is he who is led by the Good Shepherd into the midst of green pastures and beside refreshing waters.

Blessed is he who in the valley of the shadow of death has the presence of the Lord to comfort and stay him.

Blessed is he who even in the midst of enemies feels that he can trust in the Lord's care and protection.

Blessed is he who can look forward to dwelling forever in the house of the Lord.

He who wishes to rise in the world should veil his ambition with the forms of humility.

Merrimac, Mass., Nov. 10.—Four burglars early today overpowered the only policeman of this place and after robbing him and locking him up, in the town jail, they blew open the postoffice safe, rifled it of its contents and fled. In going away the thieves held up one man at the point of a revolver and fired two shots at another man, both bullets going wide of the mark. Citizens awakened by the tumult sounded the fire alarm, which called the entire male population of the town to the scene and search for the robbers was commenced. The burglars secured about $1,000 in money and valuables belonging to the postmistress.

EVIL POWER IN EYES

Clara Coffin Tells How She Was Forced to Follow Command of Abductor

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 7.—A strange case of kidnaping, involving the exercise of hypnotic power, has just come to light in this city. Miss Clara Josephine Coffin, of East Orange, N. J., the pretty seventeen-year-old daughter of W. Ward Coffin, John D. Rockefeller's confidential business agent in New York, is the victim and an unknown woman and unknown man the perpetrators of the crime. Miss Coffin, almost a nervous wreck from the disquieting experience through which she has passed, is at the home of her cousin, Postmaster Joseph Crow, of Omaha, and will remain there until her father arrives here to take her home.

Late Thursday night Postmaster Crow received a telegram filed at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, telling him that Miss Coffin would arrive here on the 11 o'clock Northwestern train and requesting him to meet her at the station. The moment the train stopped the girl rushed from the car, and throwing herself into Mr. Crow's arms, cried hysterically: "I have made my escape. I jumped from the train when they were not looking. Oh, those terrible, glittering black eyes. Oh, thank God, I have escaped from them at last."

Mr. Crow took the girl to his home in a carriage with all possible haste and when she had composed herself sufficiently to talk intelligibly she related to him her singular experience.

MET A STRANGE WOMAN.

"Miss Coffin told me when I got her to my home Thursday night," said Mr. Crow, "that last Tuesday she met a strange dark woman in East Orange and that the woman's piercing black eyes semed to look right through her. It seems that the woman had first gone to the girl's home, and failing to find her there, had gone out and made a search for her. Finding her in the street, the woman accosted Miss Coffin and told her in a commanding way to go home, pack her clothing and follow her. The girl, evidently hypnotized, was powerless, she tells me, to resist the woman and did as she was commanded. In a sort of dazed condition she went to her home, packed her clothes without seeing any of the family, slipped out of the house and met the woman on a certain street corner by appointment.

"A strange bearded man was with the woman and the three entered a carriage in waiting. They went first to some town, the name of which Miss Coffin does not remember, and thence to New York. When they reached New York Miss Coffin says her mind practically became a blank and she does not remember anything distinctly from that time until she was awakened by the woman just as the train on which they were traveling was pulling into the station in Chicago.

REALIZES SHE IS KIDNAPED.

"At Chicago she recalls that they, accompanied by the strange man, were driven from one station to another and from then until just before their train reached Cedar Rapids she realized, though somewhat vaguely, that she had been kidnaped. She thought of many plans by which she might escape from her captors. When the train reached Cedar Rapids the woman left her seat for a moment to go forward to talk with the man, and seeing an opportunity to get away from her, the poor girl slipped out of the car and scribbled the telegram which I received later and filed it with the operator at the station. Then she secreted herself in the station until the train on which she had arrived had pulled out, later boarding the train on which in her telegram she had advised me to meet her.

"Miss Coffin says that as she recalls now she was so completely under the spell which the woman had thrown over her that during the two days they were together she did her abductor's every bidding unhesitatingly. Who the woman is or why she kidnaped her the poor girl does not know. She says she had never seen the woman before she met her Tuesday.

ALMOST A NERVOUS WRECK.

"After she had gone to bed Thursday night," continued Mr. Crow, "Miss Coffin was heard frequently to cry out piteously: 'Oh, those awful glittering black eyes.' She is well nigh a nervous wreck as a result of her experience and it will be a long time, if ever, before she recovers from the effects of it. Immediately upon her arrival here Thursday night I wired her father in New York that she was at my home, but did not tell him all of her story. I expect him to come on here at once to take his daughter home. Meantime we shall make an effort to run down and punish the girl's abductors, though I question whether we shall be successful.

"So far as I know Miss Coffin's father has no enemies who would be likely to commit such a crime as his daughter says has been committed. It is possible, however, that since he is a D. Rockefeller's confidential man in New York someone who knew Miss Coffin imagined he had lots of money and kidnaped his daughter with the idea of holding her for ransom."

Miss Coffin was seen by a reporter at Mr. Crow's home today. The story as related by Mr. Crow was read to her and she said it was substantially correct. She evidently was suffering severely from nervousness and was not permitted to talk more than a few minutes.

PROFESS FAITH AT FUNERAL.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 7.—Standing at the bier of their dead brother and son at Michigantown, Ind., yesterday, the father and brothers of R. E. Baker, who had long claimed to be infidels, publicly joined in prayer and professed their faith. This revulsion of feeling was the climax of a dramatic scene, during which a man named Purciful, a brother-in-law of the dead man and a devoted Christian, publicly denounced them for their lack of religion.

When young Baker was buried his six brothers acted as pall bearers. The boys and their father, while never having scoffed openly at religion, always claimed infidelity. When the boy died a minister was called, however, to hold services over the body. Just as he arose to conduct the services Mr. Purciful asked to be permitted to say a few words. Then he turned upon the mourning father and brothers, denouncing them for calling him a demagogue and laughing at his professions of religion. Pointing at the body in the casket, he called upon them to let the young man's death serve as a lesson to them.

THINK GOVERNOR IS PLAYING POLITICS

He Goes to Washington Monday and Has the Anxious Ones Guessing.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 7.—It is announced today that Governor Durbin will leave Monday for Washington. Upon the face of things his visit is for the purpose of pressing the allowance of the claim made for expenses by officers of the mounted guard who were on duty at the recent army maneuvers at West Point. There is a strong suspicion, however, that politics is at the bottom of the governor's trip, though nobody appears to be in position to state definitely the precise nature of Governor Durbin's plans.

BRYAN EXECUTOR OF BENNETT WILL

Judge Cleaveland's Decision is That the Nebraskan May Qualify.

BOND FIXED AT $350,000

Attorney for Family Makes Protest Against Bryan as Executor.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7.—In the probate court today William J. Bryan was admitted to act as executor of the will of Philo S. Bennett, an objection to him by Mrs. Bennett's counsel being overruled. The amount of the bond was fixed at $350,000. Counsel on both sides indicate that an appeal will be taken.

Court proceedings opened with a question from Judge Cleaveland, who presided, as to whether counsel desired to be heard on the form of decree to be entered in the case. After some discussion, it was agreed that a conference between counsel on both sides early next week should determine the form of decree to be submitted to the court for approval.

Judge Stoddard asked if counsel for the executors would state definitely whether Mr. Bryan intended to qualify as an executor. He pointed out that if Mr. Bryan declined to do so Mr. Sloan, partner of Mr. Bennett, would remain sole executor. Mr. Stoddard, counsel for the heirs, said that he would urge Mr. Sloan to continue, but he would protest Mr. Bryan.

INTENDS TO QUALIFY.

Mr. Newton, counsel for Mr. Bryan, said that Mr. Bryan intended to qualify and act as executor.

"Then I want to know, further," said Judge Stoddard, "if Mr. Bryan intends to take an appeal from the decision of your honor."

Mr. Newton: "That we shall decide in due time."

"Then, I enter protest now against Mr. Bryan as executor," said Judge Stoddard.

Mr. Newton answered: "Mr. Bryan will not appeal from the admission of the will to probate. Whether he will appeal on the court's decision to exclude the sealed letter he is not required to state now."

Mr. Stoddard then began a speech of further protest and explanation, saying: "Your honor has decided that the sealed letter is not a part of the will. We shall insist upon the performance of his duty as executor if Mr. Bryan is to act as such. But if there is any lingering suspicion that he intends to take an appeal it is not right that he shall qualify also as executor. He cannot serve two masters in this matter. If he intends to uphold the law as your honor has spoken it in your decision it will be contrary to the law to undertake to destroy that will. By taking appeal from your decision Mr. Bryan undertakes a course for the advantage of himself and his family. He cannot put aside the interests of his family if he chooses to put aside his own in this matter.

BRYANS' FAMILY INTEREST.

"This is a property affair. If that sealed letter is a part of the will Mr. Bryan's family have a property interest and unless by some formal renunciation he puts beyond peradventure the question of whether he will try to take advantage of that sealed letter, he may also be considered to claim a property interest. It is utterly inconsistent for Mr. Bryan to act as executor and at the same time taken an appeal from the court's decision. If your honor should hold that that is law I shall advise my clients to take an appeal to test that matter.

"Under some other clauses of the will, certainly the seventeenth clause, Mr. Bryan takes as trustee and not as an individual certain moneys. As trustee, under that section of the will, it will be Mr. Bryan's duty to uphold that section. If he becomes executor he also stands as trustee under the will. In that particular his position is also extraordinary. That creates two contesting parties under the will and one of them seeks to qualify as executor under the instrument. I should not think that he would want to feel that his duty as trustee might influence him against his duty as executor. I again protest against the qualification of William J. Bryan as an executor."

Mr. Newton contended that Mr. Bryan's duty as executor in no way conflicted with his other duty under the will. The argument by Mr. Stoddard was, he said, on behalf of those who intend to frustrate the intent of the man through whom they have received large benefits.

THE BOND IS FIXED.

Judge Cleaveland ruled that he had no discretion in the matter and had no right to prevent Mr. Bryan from qualifying as executor.

When the amount of the bond was broached Mr. Bryan said to the court:

"The amount of the estate is, on its face value, about $302,000. A part of that is book accounts and the actual value there of cannot be stated by anyone without a careful examination of the books, more extensive than I have given. I am willing that Mr. Stoddard shall suggest the amount of the bond. I have no preference in the matter at all. So far as acting as executor is concerned, I was asked to act by the testator, and as I have said publicly, I feel I ought to do it unless the court appoints some one who is interested in carrying out the will instead of attempting to defeat it."

Mr. Stoddard pointed out that the estate was practically partnership property which would require some months to turn into money. He suggested a small bond with the reservation that his client have the right to come into court whenever a large amount is coming into the executor's hands and seek to have the bond increased.

Judge Cleaveland said he made it a rule always to have the bond ample. He suggested either $325,000 or $350,000. Mr. Bryan said that would be satisfactory to him and the court fixed the bond at $350,000.

PERRY-PIERCE.

Miss Robina Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Pierce, of 324 West Jefferson street, and Ely E. Perry were married Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Asher S. Preston, pastor of Wayne street Methodist Episcopal church. The wedding was a quiet home affair and the appointments were simple and in good taste. The wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Will Young as the bridal party entered the parlor. The bridesmaids were Miss Grace Tinkham and Miss Edith Coverdale and they were becomingly attired in embroidered Swiss trimmed with valenciennes lace, and each carried a bouquet of budding roses. The bride's gown was a beautiful creation of ivory white clair de lume crepe over taffeta, trimmed with rose point lace and liberty satin ribbon. She wore a tulle veil and her only ornament was a diamond crescent, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet was a shower arrangement of bride's roses tied with uneven ends of satin ribbon in bows. Master Frank Havice carried the ring on a silver tray. An aisle was formed for the entry of the bridal party, with pedestals supporting fern plants and linked together with white ribbon. The bride and groom stood beneath an archway draped with lace and southern smilax, in the center being a design of two hearts made of marguerites and linked together. The groom was attended by Ellson Reed, of LaRose, Ill. During the ceremony Mr. Young played "Hearts and Flowers." A wedding dinner in four courses was served by Seidel. The bride's table was bordered with southern smilax attached to each place and tied with ribbon to small white crepe paper baskets filled with pink and white bon bons. White chrysanthemums were grouped in the center of the table. Mr. and Mrs. Perry left during the afternoon on a short wedding trip. They will be at home after December 1st at 333 Brackenridge street. Only a small company of relatives and near friends were guests. As the bride left the house she tossed her bouquet, in which was concealed a gold ring, to her maids.

HE COULD HARDLY GET UP.

P. H. Duffy, of Ashley, Ill., writes: "This is to certify that I have taken two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure and it has helped me more than any other medicine. I tried many advertised remedies, but none of them gave me any relief. My druggist recommended Foley's Kidney Cure and it has cured me. Before commencing its use I was in such a shape that I could hardly get up when once down." Sold by Dreier & Bro.

GRAFTING HIS RUIN

Sam Parks Says Practice is Old, But Unions Must Stop It to Live.

New York, Nov. 7.—Before he left his cell here to begin serving his sentence of more than two years in Sing Sing prison for extortion of money from employers, Sam Parks, ex-walking delegate of the local housesmiths and bridgemen's union, called about him a number of newspaper men to bid them farewell. In so doing he made the following statement:

"It's only taken a little more than seven years for them to get me here. It has been a hard fight and I've lost; that's all. I'm down and out and I know when I've had enough. I'll be forgotten in less than a year except by some of the boys who thought there was some good in me, and I am sorry for it. Every laboring man in this country should remember me for years to come. I should be a warning to them. I'm the victim of a custom that is older then I am, and that is—the habit of having money transactions with employers. That put me here.

"The salvation of the unions lies in stopping that practice at once. They must give up fines, waiting time, back pay for strikes and everything like that. That's the loophole through which this 'grafting,' as they call it, creeps in. The employers never leave any tracks. I could name 100 employers here who have made a practice of using labor unions against competitors. I know plenty of employers who have made fortunes by the use of money of a young fellow who has never made more than a couple of dollars a day and has been in authority by his union."

BOODLE CASE FAILS

Jury Disagrees in Trial of Missouri Legislator for Bribery.

Jefferson City, Mo., Nov. 7.—The jury before which State Senator Frank H. Farris was tried on a charge of bribery in connection with alum legislation, came into court at 10 o'clock and reported that it had failed to agree on a verdict. The judge thereupon discharged the jury from further service.

The foreman reported that the jury stood four for acquittal and eight for conviction after being out exactly sixteen and a half hours. A new trial will be necessary.

Senator Farris was the first of the indicted members of the legislature to be tried on charges of bribery. He was tried on a direct charge of receiving $7,000 and distributing it among seven members of the committee on criminal jurisprudence for holding up the bill introduced to amend the law prohibiting the use of alum in baking powders. This money, the testimony went to show, came from Daniel J. Kelley, of New York, who was a representative of the baking powder trust, and was alleged to have been handed to the accused by former Lieut. Gov. John A. Lee.

NO WAR IN FAR EAST

Russia and Japan Have Reached an Agreement and Will Not Fight.

Berlin, Nov. 7.—6 p. m.—The negotiations between Russia and Japan have so far advanced that the Associated Press is officially informed that the announcement of a settlement may be expected soon.

The terms of the agreement are not disclosed here. It is only reported that a friendly adjustment of the differences between Russia and Japan is now as good as reached and that all prospect of war has disappeared. The foreign office, having this knowledge, has received the Vienna report that the czar and Emperor William have signed a far eastern alliance, with smiling incredulity. The officials here say it is one of those idle inventions that follow any meeting of sovereigns. No such agreement has been signed. Germany's interest in the far east is regarded as being of too slight a character to justify her in even contemplating war in any eventuality. Russia could offer no consideration, now or in the future, sufficient to bring Germany into a war with Great Britain.

ALEXIEFF WILL RESIGN.

Yokohama, Japan, Nov. 7.—It is reported semi-officially at Tokio that Admiral Alexieff, the Russian viceroy of the far east, will shortly remove his headquarters from Port Arthur to Vladivostock and resign the viceroyalty in favor of a certain Russian prince and that Vladivostock will be made an open port.

Hendricks, $2,500; Bertha Bingham, $2,500; Hannah Hendricks, $2,500; Ida B. Kettering, of Chicago, $500; Kate Hendricks, Shelbyville, Ind., $500; Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, Indianapolis, $2,500, in trust of the Indiana Trust company; Hanover college, $10,000; John Hendricks, son of Anna B. Hendricks, $2,500; John Hendricks, son of Hannah Hendricks, $2,500; Chas. Hendricks, son of Hannah Hendricks, $2,500; Jennie Hendricks, wife of Victor Hendricks, $2,500.

The remainder of her estate is to be divided between her brother, Stephen Morgan; her sister, Abbie C. Herman, and her niece, Eliza Thornton. Aquilla Jones is named as executor.

A GOOD NAME.

From personal experience I testify that DeWitt's Little Early Risers are unequalled as a liver pill. They are rightly named, because they give strength and energy and do their work with ease.—W. T. Easton, Boerne, Tex. Thousands of people are using these tiny little pills in preference to all others, because they are so pleasant and effectual. They cure biliousness, torpid liver, jaundice, sick headache, constipation, etc. They do not purge and weaken, but cleanse and strengthen. Sold by Meyer Bros. Co.

EIGHT LIVES WERE LOST.

Butte, Mont., Nov. 7.—A special from Virginia City, Mont., says the list of dead as a result of the fire in the Kearsarge mine near here yesterday numbers eight. All of the bodies have been recovered, including that of Superintendent R. B. Turner, and four of them will be taken to Butte for interment today. No cause for the fire has yet been learned. Operations will be resumed as soon as repairs to the shaft and mine buildings have been made.

AGED MAN IS FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED

Anthony J. Schirmeyer Succumbs to infirmities--Other Deaths.

Anthony Joseph Schirmeyer, a retired shopman, nearly 84 years of age, was found dead in bed at 7 Saturday morning at the residence of his son-in-law, Gustave J. Schmieman, 1239 Ewing street, where the aged man had made his home for many years.

Death had ensued more than an hour prior to the time when Mr. Schmieman went to the aged man's room to summon him to breakfast and found that life was extinct. Dr. W. W. Barnett, the coroner, who was at once summoned, finds that Mr. Schirmeyer's death was due to pneumonia, complicated with the infirmities of his advanced age. It is certain that Mr. Schirmeyer was alive at 4 o'clock, for members of the family heard him coughing at that hour. Dr. Barnett is of the opinion that death occurred between five and six o'clock.

The aged man was a native of Germany and came to Fort Wayne thirty-five years ago. For twenty-eight years he was employed at the Pennsylvania shops, but was retired upon an honorable pension by reason of his age some years ago. Since the death of his wife the aged man had made his home with his children. Surviving are one son, Charles Schirmeyer, of this city, and three daughters—Mrs. G. J. Schmieman, of this city: Mrs. J. G. Voors, of Chicago, and Mrs. C. Nettlehorst, of St. Louis. He was an estimable citizen and a devoted member of St. Paul's Catholic church.

INVESTIGATING A REPORT.

Superintendent Gorsline is investigating a report made to him last night to the effect that members of the force of the Protective Patrol company are trying to levy tribute on keepers of Pearl street resorts for protection. The charge is made against Watchman Hively. The force was put on without consulting the regular police department, a courtesy that the superintendent believes he is entitled to, and for this reason little is known of the methods of the men.

RUMOR IS UNFOUNDED.

Assistant Secretary Joe Biemer, of the waterworks department, took a day off today and hired a hack to go to Arcola to attend the wedding of a cousin. Custodian Harrison DeHaven was informed that Biemer had hired the hack with the intent to commit matrimony and the report was freely circulated about the city hall. Investigation developed that he had not secured a license, but simply went to be present at a wedding.
